

The Plain Truth

There are individuals who are not concerned with the inequality existing within a populace as long as they are flourishing and prospering economically and materially. For those the pursuit of UNDERSTANDING the 'SR' Technology is useless and undesirable data or even destructive to their goals and dreams. However for those of us who can PERCEIVE the CONTETMENT and happiness that is achievable through fairness , equality and OPPORTUNITY for all, it may be vital information.

Although within the totality of the 'SR' Technology it becomes clear, the following are some summaries of the state of current global parameters. This summary is formulated in a way that describes two of the three recognitions in the simplest of terms and thus can probably be viewed as self evident and undeniable.

The First Recognition: - Production and Consumption

1. All planetary conceived ills responsible for concerns for environmental dangers such as (some examples) Global Warming, Climate change, carbon footprint, pollution, environment destruction, resource depletion, habitat loss, species extinction etc. are a DIRECT result of production and consumption.
2. Everything that gets produced HAS to be consumed and everything that gets consumed CAN be produced.
3. Everything that gets consumed results in a flow of capital from the customer to the shareholders and owners of corporations. Thus, there is the creation of the gap between the so called 'Haves' and so called 'Have-nots'.
4. The more money an individual makes by having a job or the more jobs get created the greater the flow of capital from them to the top of WEALTH, which is through owning corporations, investments, The Stock Market, Ponzi schemes etc.
5. Corporations are responsible for the maximisation of PROFITS for the distribution to owners and shareholders. They have no interest in (for example) things that are listed in 1.above. unless the PERCEPTION of their concern can increase the PROFIT margin.
6. "The American Dream" is thus the invention of the upper class of WEALTH and the corporate structure.
7. Literally every individual, from the public, the corporation, Governments, the plutocrats, etc. pursue an improvement in economy which is indoctrinated to mean more employment, higher wages, more government services etc.
8. Which now brings us back to Item No 1. above

The Second Recognition: - Inequality

Other factors that are direct consequences of Production and Consumption.

1. Like the items listed under Production and Consumption, items like; Income Equality, WEALTH Gap, Poverty, Starvation, Greed and Crime (up to and including Wars) among others are consequentially the same source; being the concentration of WEALTH creation of the individual, whether at the top or bottom of the WEALTH pyramid
2. At the lower end of the WEALTH chain individuals have been indoctrinated to pursue the "American Dream". by achieving better employment, maximisation of wages, empowerment to purchase more of the material luxuries of life etc.

3. All the while this is what results in the increase of the gap between the minute number of the super rich or owners of money, resulting in corporations and investors doing the same thing as the masses who have to earn their living through creation and production.
4. More people working or making a higher wage (wage salary) is exactly what this tiny portion of super rich are desiring and directing.
5. Thus it does nothing to reduce the gap and instead increases the gap which is counter economic equality, or indeed any other inequality existing.
6. Thus the only workable concept to create equality (whatever the TRUE inequality is) to implement structures that can close the ability of some to live off the backs of others which is what creates the WEALTH gap..
7. This of course could only be accomplished through DISSEMINATION and EDUCATING the individual collectively that this endless pursuit of the "American Dream" is the only thing that is the creator of literally all ills existing on the planet.

The Third Recognition: Nature of a Human Being

Due to the indoctrinated education within current global societies, 'The TRUE Nature of a Human Being' is not as self-evident as the two recognitions above. Thus it will not be covered to any extent here. Comprehending this TRUE nature requires a much greater detail and largely EMPIRICAL observation outside of this discussion, as opposed to the intent here to present information that can be considered self evident. It is therefore that the reader is directed to consult the full content of the 'SR' Technology which is largely DISSEMINATED on the Pages of this Website under the Page \Home\SR' Material.

1. The full recognition of the ROOT CAUSE of all existing ills above could not be fully realized without the full recognition of the TRUE Nature of a Human Being.
2. This TRUE Nature must be hidden from the individual in order to prevent awareness of the above two self evident recognitions.
3. To the extent that an individual is aware of and in contact with this (their) TRUE Nature, to that extent could they not be indoctrinated by the self evident items discussed above.
4. This understanding is more than understood by the few at the top of the WEALTH pyramid.
5. It is not relevant whether those few are consciously aware of this, or acting out of the indoctrination that they themselves have been exposed to and benefited from.
6. These three steps above are the vital information necessary for any individual living today or in the future to help in creating a society where:
"SUSTAINABLE social ECONOMIC" well being" can become a reality.

Vital but Simplified Summary

In the event that the most important TRUTH has not been recognized from the above dissertation, it is briefly expressed here:

All Governments, politicians, social change activists, disseminators of inequalities, corporations wishing to be viewed as pursuing Social Equality to maximise their bottom line, and even some plutocrats (eg. Nick Hanauer; see the link to two of his videos on this website) operate on the same premise. This premise is that the answer to the reduction in social inequalities is the creation of more jobs, increase in wages, creating more opportunities for more family members to earn wages, indoctrinating them to pursue the 'American Dream', etc., thus raising their standard of living.

During particularly the past decades or century, the demands of the populace for ever increasing affluence through pursuing the 'American Dream' has exponentially and dramatically exploded. Through the Founders personal observation the material lifestyles of the middle class has exploded to almost INSANE proportions. Please note that that observation has nothing to do with denying or not recognizing the enormous WEALTH gap spiralling out of control as it surely is. It is however by the self evident Truth detailed in the first two observations above that all efforts and demands made by ALL citizens to improve the economy through acquisition of material things (whether material possessions or the money that represents them) is the exact mechanism creating the financial inequality in all societies on the planet. Thus it should be self evident that pursuing goals that "improve the economy" are self destructive to the planet, its resources and humanity. Another self evident TRUTH may also be expressed. That is that (Just for the recognition and UNDERSTANDING), if every individual would UNDERSTAND where humanity is heading and be willing to reduce their consumption by X percent, that all existing destructive elements would be reduced by X percent. There is nothing to prevent any individual from UNDERSTANDING this and striving to practically reduce their consumption. This can be said about all citizens anywhere from the middle class to the upper end of the WEALTH pyramid. All that is necessary for any individual to achieve this is the recognition of their indoctrination into pursuing the 'American Dream' and then decide to act and do. This recognition and contribution to 'saving humanity' will be experienced by the individual to create far greater happiness, CONTENTMENT and satisfaction than any material WEALTH, monetary or physical. And maybe of greater importance is for individuals of the middle class to recognize that their pursuit of supporting, electing or glorifying individuals who promise or enable systems that create more production and consumption will INCREASE the inequality existing on the planet. People glorify and DEIFY those of WEALTH and power because they have been indoctrinated that that is what they themselves dream of. There does not seem to exist a reality that those of extreme WEALTH must have desired and practiced a willingness to make money on the backs of those that have to earn their living by producing or creating. Although not illegal this reality is as dishonest, immoral, corrupt and destructive as can possibly be envisioned.

It appears that like the individual in a society who does not have any proposal that can reverse this trend for inequality and elimination of the WEALTH gap is no different from the Government, politicians, organizations and certainly not the corporations. It is however those individuals who at the top of the WEALTH pyramid not only are at the top because of their WEALTH but on top in their power of influence enabling them to dictate the structure and parameters existing within the society.

Although it feels feeble and lossy to dissertate the vital need for individuals to take a worthy initiative to find solutions that may be proposed or at least visualized that it is not the corporations, institutions, politicians, Governments, nor the plutocrats who can be relied upon to fix or strive for workable solutions. Countless individuals, groups and organizations have sprung up to advocate awareness of the state of humanity. Although some, disseminating on the internet, writing books or other disseminations may do so with the hope of enriching themselves, it seems impossible to determine and may even be irrelevant in present time. Aside from that, there are those who's purpose is strictly for disseminating the dire need to EDUCATE people in the ills that exist on this planet.

Some disseminate social activism such as demonstrations, civil disobedience or demanding governments and others to solve the problems, and yet others disseminate that change should be achieved through collective community building and moving away from global economics and existing global parameters. And indeed it seems that all have a place in the development of change that can benefit the achievement of "SUSTAINABLE social ECONOMIC well being".

However it appears that initially today the utmost importance should be placed on several items that can happen at the same time. First is the most important step which would be to create awareness and recognition in as many individuals as possible about the dire need to recognize the TRUE state of global societies and their decline. Next, and at the same time it is here claimed that the countless individuals who are currently pursuing and disseminating the need for change would get together to coordinate their efforts at DISSEMINATION would logically be far more effective than the existing individual fragmentation. Next would be a concentrated effort to DEVELOP and then PROPOSE solutions to those whom we address who are supposed to correct what we see needs correction.

It is conceived that these proposed corrections may be theoretical and not currently feasible in implementation. However these proposals must be designed such that the individual who is to benefit by them must create faith in them that when and if implemented they will unquestionably prove that they are designed to transparently prove to them that they are designed for maximum benefit to Humanity, nature, the environment and the planet as opposed to any individual or group. The greatest source of the discontentment of people in any society is indeed the fact that they KNOW that there is no group, organization, politician, Government, or corporation that has their and the collectives TRUE interest and well being in mind. And if there should be one, the existing lack of TRANSPARENCY of their effort and INTENT is not visible.

In closing, there is one other important consideration for those who travel the road of finding ways to have an impact upon the existing social decline. There are many fronts to this recognition but here is one example. It is vital for success, that the individual so engaged develops this recognition. It is the recognition and application that there is a difference between an individual travelling to destinations for pleasure, entertainment, fun, or just because the funds are available and the individual who travels as part of their DISSEMINATION to gain widespread awareness of what exists and what needs to be changed. Another and maybe even more important related realization for success is that the only changes for oneself that should be considered are those that provide a CONTENT feeling in the individual if they apply it to themselves. If the individual has any feeling of burden for the change they feel they must adhere to, it is better not to force oneself to have to be an example. Any such feelings of 'have to' will have some negative effect on the outcome of their activities.
